

The First Constitutional (Minorities Protection) Amendment

An Official Act of the Government of the Great Commonwealth of the Ibrosian Democracy æcté d'wesetilk d'ye grande wealth d'commune dek Lk'esoeseak-IboroseŃ

The Twenty Ninth day of July, Twenty-Hundred and Two AM

AN AMENDMENT to embody in the Petition of the Constitution laws to assure that minorities do not suffer under the majority in control of criminal law.

Should it be enacted by the will of at least two thirds of the people of the Great Commonwealth of the Ibrosian Democracy, this Amendment shall be passed into constitutional law with the particulars stated herein:

Article I

By the powers granted to this grande éhoi under Part eight, Article II of the Petition of the Constitution (ratified as the Constitution Act 2001), Part Nine, Amendment I shall be created to read thus:

“(1) In order to protect minorities from the wrath of the people, no laws shall be made prohibiting the rights of any particular social group, or creating anomalies with their treatment. It shall be discouraged to label or name any particular social group within legislature produced by the Great Commonwealth of the Ibrosian Democracy under the powers granted within this Constitution.

(2) All persons are equal under the law. It shall be unlawful for the state to differentiate between races, genders or religions where voting and civil rights are concerned”

Article II

This amendment shall be legally binding on all State authority and bound by Part three, Article I of the Petition of the Constitution.

Article III

It shall be unlawful for this state to discriminate against minorities, on grounds of gender, race, sexuality or physical ability.

Article IV

Violation of this Act and the Constitutional order contain therein shall be considered a tort by the Great Commonwealth Government against the violated individual or organisation, for which they shall have rights to seek due compensation in the Supreme Court of the Judiciary.

V. Short Title, Commencement and Extent of this Amendment

- (1) This Amendment may be cited as the First Constitutional (Minorities Protection) Amendment
- (2) This amendment shall come into effect upon the passing by the éhoi and authorisation by the Returning Officer.
- (3) This amendment extends to

- (a) The Great Commonwealth

“Long Live The Great Commonwealth”